Comment text:

Submission from Stutton Parish Council Babergh Boundary Review Stutton Parish Council suggests that it should be in a ward containing Stutton, Holbrook and Tattingstone, and that the ward should be called Alton. Geographically we all surround Alton Water and already have links to each other. The needs, services and infrastructure of the villages are similar; therefore one councillor would have a better overview of the area and how to balance the wards requirements. Brantham is a large village, with a growing population, situated on the A137 away from Stutton and the other mentioned villages. Its problems and concerns are not necessarily reflected in the smaller villages.
