The premise that 2 councillors per ward do half of the work each is flawed - especially if they are of different political persuasions. I am one of 2 councillors for Pinewood but as the other is a Tory (I am LibDem) we both have to cover the full parish. Adding Sproughton will almost double my workload especially once the hundreds of additional houses are built. It may be slightly unbalanced now but going forward it would be better to have one councillor for Pinewood and one for Sproughton. Residential parishes, like Pinewood, are easier to get round than a cluster of villages.
