Comment text:

As an owner/resident of a stone miners cottage in Combe Down I am astonished by the ineptitude represented by these proposals. The proposal to divide the historic village along the long Drung is ludicrous. The village has been the subject of one of the largest stabilisation projects in engineering history with a budget exceeding £150,000000. This undertaking bound the community together in common purpose and endeavour. The village lived through years of doubt,fear, uncertainty of the future, inability to mortgage, insure, sell homes. The result is a well balanced integrated society supporting, School, Churches, Heritage centre and a multitude of Community Groups as identified in the Combe Down Heritage Society Submission. The two Ward Councillors both reside within the village and are actively invested in the welfare of the community. The proposed changes would have an adverse effect on their role. It is clear that further thought must be given to this proposal in order to preserve both the historic boundaries of the village and the interests of the electorate. Yours, Martin Hobday Trustee. Combe Down Stone Legacy Trust .
