

What happens next?

We have now completed our review of Scarborough Borough Council. The recommendations must now be approved by Parliament. A draft order - the legal document which brings into force our recommendations - will be laid in Parliament. Subject to parliamentary scrutiny, the new electoral arrangements will come into force at the local elections in 2019.

Our recommendations:

The table lists all the wards we are proposing as part of our final recommendations along with the number of voters in each ward. The table also shows the electoral variances for each of the proposed wards, which tells you how we have delivered electoral equality. Finally, the table includes electorate projections for 2023, so you can see the impact of the recommendations for the future.

Who we are:

- The Local Government Boundary Commission for England is an independent body set up by Parliament.
- We are not part of government or any political party.
- We are accountable to Parliament through a committee of MPs chaired by the Speaker of the House of Commons.
- Our main role is to carry out electoral reviews of local authorities throughout England.

Why Scarborough?

- Scarborough currently has high levels of electoral inequality: some councillors represent many more - or many fewer - voters than others.
- Therefore the value of your vote, in Scarborough Borough council elections, varies depending on where you live in Scarborough.
- We are seeking to improve levels of electoral equality for local voters

Electoral review:

- An electoral review examines and proposes new electoral arrangements for a local authority, including:
- The total number of councillors representing the council's voters ('council size').
 - The names, number and boundaries of wards or electoral divisions.
 - The number of councillors for each ward or division.

Our proposals:

- Scarborough Borough Council currently has 50 councillors. Based on the evidence we received, the Commission recommends that 46 councillors should serve the Scarborough in the future.
- The Commission believes the final recommendations meet our statutory criteria to:
 - (1) Deliver electoral equality for voters.
 - (2) Reflect community interests and identities.
 - (3) Promote effective and convenient local government.

Summary of our recommendations

We have considered all the submissions we received during our consultation on our draft recommendations.

The final recommendations propose that Scarborough Council should have 46 councillors.

Those councillors should represent 8 three-councillor wards, 10 two-councillor wards and 2 one-councillor wards across the borough.

Scarborough should be represented by 46 councillors, four fewer than there are now. Scarborough should have 20 wards, five fewer than there are now. The boundaries of four wards will stay the same. In the majority of the borough, ward boundaries will change.

An outline of the proposals is shown in the map to the right. A detailed report on the recommendations and interactive mapping is available on our website at: www.lgbce.org.uk.
