50 councillors or less would seem to be right. The larger a committee the more difficult to get decisions.