

Member of the public -
09/02/2013 02:13

I was very interested in standing for the 2015 elections but now you've made it impossible, this is because at that time i intend to be studding at university and i feel that with the massively increased workload for 46 Councillors dumped onto just 30 people that this would simply be impossible because it would effectively take up ALL my time. You will lose so much talent as most people can't spend this time on what is going to be full time work. I beg on my knees to throw your brain dead plans into the dustbin of history where it belongs.