I agree with the changes to the Trowell and Awsworth ward. However, I do not agree with the name. The ward should be called Awsworth, Cossall and Trowell. The proposed ward Includes the village of Cossall and the area known as Cossall Marsh. Cossall Village, as it know locally has many historical links and must not be over looked due to bureaucracy. Cossall is mentioned in the Doomsday book and the Church is 13th Century. Buried in the church are the Middleton-Willoughby families who are the family that built the iconic Wollaton Hall about 3 miles as the crow flies and Cossall was once part of this estate. There are alms houses which belongs to Catherine's Church. In the church yard there are monuments to three men who fought in the Battle of Waterloo. The adjacent cottage to the Church has direct connections with local author DH Lawrence as his fiancée Louise Burrows lived here. The village is featured in his iconic novel The Rainbow. Cossall Village is the Jewel in the Crown of Broxtowe Borough with regards to historical features. it is very important for the current generation and future generations that Cossall is not wiped off the map!
