"I totally agree with and support the cut in District Councilors from 46 to 30.

The new boundaries will reflect the interests and identities of local communities and also ensure that elections are more democratic and that electors may now get the chance to see/read a candidate's manifesto, something that rarely happens at present.

Lower councilor numbers would probably mean that we end up with ""professional councilors"" - this could be a very good thing for Shepway as the locals could be assured that their councilor will be more accountable and also need to be more transparent in decision taking. This would lead to less Party Politics and more Local Representation.
