

Lancashire Constabulary has made good progress in achieving its savings for the comprehensive spending review period

Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC) has today published a report on Lancashire Constabulary's progress in meeting the challenges of the 2010 comprehensive spending review.

A thematic report, Policing in Austerity: One Year On, found that police forces across England and Wales have risen to the financial challenge of the spending review, cutting their spending while largely maintaining the service they provide to the public; but HMIC has some concerns about whether all forces have transformed their efficiency to the extent that this can be sustained through the next three years (and into future spending reviews).

Based on the data provided by the force, HMIC found that:

- Lancashire Police needs to save £44 million between March 2011 and March 2015. By spring 2012 they had planned how to save 87% of this amount.
- The force is planning to cut its total workforce number (i.e. police officers, police staff and police community support officers) by 610 between March 2010 and March 2015.
- 550 of these will be police officer posts; this means there will be 15% fewer officers in Lancashire Constabulary (compared to the 10% average officer reduction across England and Wales).
- The force plans to have 73% of its workforce in frontline roles by 2015, which is in line with other forces in England and Wales.
- The proportion of officers in frontline roles will increase between March 2010 and March 2015 (from 81% to 89%) Again, this is in line with most other forces.
- Lancashire Constabulary continues to drive down crime and has achieved a larger overall crime reduction than across England and Wales as a whole this year.
- 85% of victims in Lancashire are satisfied with the overall service provided by the force, which is in line with the national figures.

HM Inspector of Constabulary for the Northern region, Roger Baker, said:

"Lancashire Constabulary has put in place a comprehensive change programme to manage the reductions in its budget. They are therefore in a good position to achieve their savings target by March 2015.

“Although the force is cutting more police officer posts than most other forces, it is increasing the proportion of officers in frontline roles. This will prove important if the force is to maintain its impressive crime reduction performance of this year.”

8. Her Majesty’s Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC) carried out an inspection of all 43 police forces in England and Wales in spring 2011, to see how they were planning to meet this financial challenge. When the results were published in July 2011 (search for ‘Valuing the Police’ on www.hmic.gov.uk), we committed to returning one year later to report on progress, and to assess whether there had been any impact on the service provided to the public.
