find large non-EU markets attractive

What do you think the most optimal arrangement would be for the UK economy?

- Stay in the European Economic Area and accept EU immigration without restriction (like Norway)
- Enter free trade agreements with other countries (US, Australia, China, India, etc)
- Join the European Customs Union (like Turkey)
- Stay in the EU
- Other (please specify)

Over half said that introductions to key people would increase the likelihood of them investing in overseas markets

Have considered markets outside the EU
