

EXPERT EQUINE LEGAL SUPPORT

Horse ownership and equestrianism should be a joy, not a source of conflict, but should issues arise, they need a calm and considered resolution. I can help you to resolve your equine disputes as swiftly and cost effectively as possible, whether it is a problem with your purchase of a horse or a professional who has acted negligently. I understand the key issues affecting the equine sector and I have built up considerable practical knowledge of resolving a wide range of difficulties.

My own experience means that I truly understand the practical issues affecting people who live and work in the countryside, so that my advice is always relevant.

I act for many individuals from the equine sector, from people who ride for fun to Olympic athletes, as well as organisations.

I can support you with:

- Professional negligence claims involving veterinary surgeons and other professionals working in the equine sector
- Disputes relating to the sale and purchase of horses
- Disputes relating to the provision of equine services
- Recovering unpaid debts
- Disputes relating to other animals.

I am on the British Equestrian Federations Appeals Board which hears appeals against doping allegations in equestrian sport and I provide advice for members of British Dressage.
