Consultative approach to achieve optimum results

At Entropie, we work in close partnership with our customers to understand their business and identify the drivers that impact most on their communications. Our approach, helping clarify what is an often-confusing marketplace, has been the foundation of our success. We help organisations large and small to plan, install and manage their systems in the most cost effective way.

Our consultants have many years of experience in the telecoms and networking industry and can provide independent and impartial advice on all aspects of business communication systems, including cost reduction and the benefits of new technologies. Your communications system is central to your capacity to look after your own customers and because it's so vital, the advice and guidance you receive from us is just as important as the actual products you use.

Keeping your business competitive

Entropie is a specialist supplier for many industry sectors and we are one of the few companies with the experience and sympathetic understanding of how technology can be applied to each of those sectors. We're known for our depth of knowledge and experience, and you can rely on us to help keep you abreast of technological changes so you stay competitive in your marketplace.

Our expertise extends across both private and public sectors. Whether it be education, legal & financial, contact centre or an SME enterprise, we understand the ins and outs of what our clients really need.

Professional support at your fingertips

Having your communications solution installed quickly with minimal disruption is vital, so we ensure that every installation is managed from the very start by a dedicated project manager. Our team of engineers will help you during the installation process and will be able to answer any queries you may have.

Training is also a very important part of any new system and has a huge impact on how your team performs. As your business develops, with new working practices and staff changes, we will discuss how we can tailor courses to suit your individual company needs.
