The Over Wallop ward is stated to have a relatively large number of electors for a village as it includes a number of service personnel. While this is so it is irrelevant to the study as those voters need representation as do any. Their views are passed via their military authorities to their Borough councillor in the normal way. Moreover were the military personnel to leave, the camp accommodation would be sold off and occupied by a similar number of electors so keeping the numbers at a similar level at which they are now. The main increase in the number of electors is caused by the new building which has occurred in Over Wallop over the last three years. It is therefore recommended that Over Wallop retains a dedicated Borough Councillor.
