The Chadwell ward in the London Borough of Redbridge is very diverse in terms of its community and local facilities. It has a good stock of affordable homes and supporting infrastructure to cater for the community's needs. People celebrate the various religious festivals and public holidays with one another with great enjoyment and have hosted street parties, big lunch, street cleaning, summer fetes amongst other things. However, one section of the community namely the residents of Quarles Park Road which is located off Grove Road in the Chadwell ward has always been noticeably absent from such events. The reason for this is that the Quarles Park Road estate although is in Chadwell Heath with the RM postcode for some bizarre reason is in the neighbouring Seven Kings ward. This has led to the residents of Quarles Park Road being socially excluded as they do not belong to the Chadwell ward and do not fit in with the Seven Kings ward as they do not have much in common in that ward. Having lived in the Chadwell ward for a number of years with family and friends living in the Quarles Park Road estate, I believe that the commission should ensure that the Quarles Park Road estate is brought into the Chadwell ward under the new boundary changes to correct this anomaly.
