

Torin Spence

n/a

Member of the public

05/04/2013 15:01

"I believe reducing the Councillors to 36 to be a good idea, i think it would make Councillors more accountable and also would remove the current situation of 'safe seats'.

I believe it would mean they would have to play a more active role and genuinely represent he views of the constituents.

With regards to effect on decision making bodies - we live in a 2 tier Authority (3 if you include Parish/Town) and the level of responsibility of these Councillors is thereby reduced. If they have to many committees then they have themselves to blame, let smaller groups of Councillors take more responsibility."