As a Parish Councillor for Kennington and also a resident of Radley Parish I feel that it would be more sensible to have the two villages represented by two district councillors. Both villages have no direct connection with Sunningwell, South Hinksey and North Hinksey and to expect three Councillors to represent five Parishes would reduce the time they could spend adequately dealing with parishioners concerns. Kennington and Radley are adjacent to each other and share several facilities. Two representatives would be able to devote adequate time to the needs of residents and also have time to attend meetings of the respective Parish Councils.
