Comment text:

At this stage the Parish Council is minded to note the fact that the Electoral Review of Eastleigh Borough Council has commenced. The Parish Council notes that there is some degree of change regarding the ward boundaries that will only become relevant if and when development takes place in the areas now proposed as the new ward. The concept of "all out" elections may lead to significant changes to the make up of the Council depending on voting patterns. One assumes this is designed to reduce instances of "no overall control" with elections being spread over three year periods. Brendan Gibbs. Clerk to the Parish Council of Hamble-le-Rice.
