It remains a disgraceful anomaly that Calcot is deemed West Berkshire, when clearly it is part of Reading. This has consequences such as: 1) Fly tipping because, for most, it is just too far to drive to find a West Berkshire tip. 2) West Berkshire "dumping" their developments on overstretched areas in Calcot because it is not really West Berkshire so they can get away with it. 3) Ridiculously high speed limits on the A4 in Calcot, as West Berkshire council seem to think it is still the rural "Calcot Row" that it was before they dumped their development obligations on Reading's border. 4) No joined up cycle route west of Reading.
